Programme overview

This programme is in the spirit of Goldsmiths and reflects our identity as a radical, political, cutting-edge, international, interdisciplinary, creative and critical home of the arts and humanities in the heart of London. You will be taught by an exemplary team of Goldsmiths artists and academics who not only teach and mentor you, but also lead their own creative projects and publish their own academic work. The BA Applied Theatre and Community Performance degree explores the practice of theatre and performance in community and educational settings, for social, political and personal change. This course reflects the relationship between arts and activism, particularly in the fields of politics, international relations and sociology. The department has exceptional links with the theatre industry, providing you with opportunities to engage with theatre and performance in various settings including social care, prisons and community centres, working with diverse groups such as young people or refugees. Our industry links represent some of the most innovative and influential performance practices in the world including: Producing theatres - the Young Vic and Theatre Royal Stratford East; Participatory organisations – Spare Tyre Theatre and Cardboard Citizens; Arts centres - The Albany and Ovalhouse; Touring theatre companies - Graeae and Talawa; and international links - ASSITEJ (the international young people's theatre organisation) and LIFT (London International Festival of Theatre).

Programme entry requirements

Candidates from a wide range of academic and experiential backgrounds are considered and accepted onto the programme. The degree does not provide training in acting but offers an introduction to wider professional skills in the creative industries, third sector and education, via the opportunity to engage in a broad creative and critical study, exploring the possibilities of performance making in a wide historical and cultural context. You will learn transferable skills for a richly diverse array of career choices. This is why we're not looking for performing skills alone but for a range of intellectual, creative, critical and inquisitive qualities when we select candidates for a place.

A majority of students will come through the A2/AS-Level route. The standard offer is BBB at GCE A2-level including a minimum Grade B in English Literature, English Language and Literature, Drama or Theatre Studies, or another humanities, arts or social science discipline. GCE A2-level General Studies is not accepted as one of the three A2-levels.

Other routes include BTEC National/Certificate, European/International Baccalaureate, Scottish Highers, Irish Leaving Certificate, Advanced GNVQ/Vocational A Levels, and Access courses in appropriate areas.

EU Applicants: Applications from EU students are welcomed and all the major European qualifications are accepted.

Overseas (non-EU) applicants: Students from all countries are welcome to apply, and a variety of qualifications for entry can be presented. Each application is considered on its individual merits. For students whose first language is not English, the following minimum IELTS scores or equivalent are required: 6.0 (with a minimum of 6.0 in the written element and no element lower than 5.5).

The degree welcomes Access students who would generally be expected to have followed an Access course in a Humanities, Arts or Social Science subject with components relevant to socially-engaged performance practice. Mature applicants who have been out of education for some time are encouraged to take an approved Access course or one or more A2-levels (including Theatre Studies, Drama or other relevant subject) before entering higher education. Applicants will normally be asked for examples of written work and called to interview. Other mature students, who may not necessarily possess any of the above entry qualifications may be considered for admission on individual merits.

Aims of the programme

The BA Applied Theatre and Community Performance course will educate and develop you as a critically thinking, creatively articulate, politically informed, self-reliant, collaborative, socially engaged artist in contemporary theatre and performance. The programme supports you to actively engage with a range of community, social and educational workplaces beyond primarily performance contexts, which is the understanding of theatre when it is 'applied'. This offers a broader understanding of the place that performance holds in society and opens up a range of future employment possibilities. This degree also offers an excellent foundation for further academic study, particularly in areas of applied theatre, theatre sociology and art and politics. It provides specific skills in drama and theatre facilitation, as well as creative practice. In addition, it will develop students' aptitude for critical engagement with key theoretical questions about society, culture and politics. By integrating academic skills into the core curriculum, students will complete the degree with excellent oral and written communication, group interaction and management and IT skills. Most importantly, the degree exposes students to professional practice through direct experience of the workplace, international study opportunities and expertise from visiting practitioners. This will allow students to graduate with a portfolio of skills that are directly relevant to future employers.

What you will be expected to achieve

Students successfully completing 120 credits will be awarded a Certificate of Higher Education and will be able to:

How the programme is structured

The programme is offered as a full-time three-year study leading to a degree in BA Drama: Applied Theatre and Community Performance. It offers the analytical, critical, historical, practical, creative and applied study of a variety of modes of performance. All students take the equivalent of 360 Cats (120 CATS at each level).

All modules in year 1 are compulsory and they are designed to provide an introduction to the critical thinking and methodological approach to the subject that will form the basis of their studies. These modules prepare the students by providing them with the tools to interrogate and begin take responsibility for their own learning. The 120 CATS offered in year 2 (Level 5 FHEQ) provide a wide range of optional elements designed to help students make choices and focus on the specialised nature of the subject. In year 3 (Level 6 FHEQ), 120 CATS offered across the three modules emphasise the political, cultural, historical and social specificity of the subject in a study environment in which students have an increased responsibility for their own learning as well as being able to develop their specialist interests via both the Independent Research Project and the options in Theatre Making 3 Laboratories and Projects, Theatre as a Learning Medium or Work Placement and Performing Cultures Options.

The optional elements in years 2 and 3 listed below are indicative. The availability of options each year is driven by staff research interests, availability and current issues in the field:

Academic support

Support for learning and wellbeing is provided in a number of ways by departments and College support services who work collaboratively to ensure students get the right help to reach their best potential both academically and personally.

All students are allocated a Personal Tutor (one in each department for joint programmes) who has overall responsibility for their individual progress and welfare. Personal Tutors meet with their student at least twice a year either face-to-face, as part of a group and/or electronically. The first meeting normally takes place within the first few weeks of the autumn term. Personal Tutors are also available to students throughout the year of study. These meetings aim to discuss progress on modules, discussion of the academic discipline and reports from previous years if available (for continuing students). This provides an opportunity for progress, attendance and assessment marks to be reviewed and an informed discussion to take place about how to strengthen individual learning and success.

All students are also allocated a Senior Tutor to enable them to speak to an experienced academic member of staff about any issues which are negatively impacting their academic study and which are beyond the normal scope of issues handled by Programme Convenors and Personal Tutors.

Students are provided with information about learning resources, the Library and information available on Learn.gold (VLE) so that they have access to department/ programme handbooks, programme information and support related information and guidance.

Taught sessions and lectures provide overviews of themes, which students are encouraged to complement with intensive reading for presentation and discussion with peers at seminars. Assessments build on lectures and seminars so students are expected to attend all taught sessions to build knowledge and their own understanding of their chosen discipline.

All assessed work is accompanied by some form of feedback to ensure that students' work is on the right track. It may come in a variety of forms ranging from written comments on a marked essay to oral and written feedback on developing projects and practice as they attend workshops.

Students may be referred to specialist student services by department staff or they may access support services independently. Information about support services is provided on the Goldsmiths website and for new students through new starter information and induction/Welcome Week. Any support recommendations that are made are agreed with the student and communicated to the department so that adjustments to learning and teaching are able to be implemented at a department level and students can be reassured that arrangements are in place. Opportunities are provided for students to review their support arrangements should their circumstances change. The Disability and Wellbeing Services maintain caseloads of students and provide on-going support.

The Careers Service provides central support for skills enhancement, running The Gold Award scheme and other co-curricular activities that are accredited via the Higher Education Achievement Report (HEAR).

The Academic Skills Centre works with academic departments offering bespoke academic literacy sessions. It also provides a programme of academic skills workshops and one-to-one provision for students throughout the year.

Links with employers, placement opportunities and career prospects

We know from the large numbers that stay in touch with the Theatre and Performance communities (both home and overseas) that the current degrees provide them with a range of skills that are attractive to employers in a large number of different areas. This degree will complement and enhance the School's emphasis on graduate employability, as it aims to endow students with a broad range of subject-specific and transferable skills that are directly relevant to our 21st-century globalised world. The degree offers a rich array of modules that equip students with skills in applied theatre practice, community development, drama education, and political, economic, and cultural theory. In addition, the department's Personal and Professional Development programme aims to provide students with the selfconfidence and initiative to begin to develop their portfolios as young artist/scholars/practitioners as well as to gain a better understanding of the ways in which their academic and practical skills can be applied and transferred to a range of other careers. The programme also includes special events that bring current students in touch with graduates in order to facilitate creative collaborations and networking, generate a sense of community, and celebrate the range of possibilities that are available. Our industry links and staff expertise encompass a wide array of cultural practices and issue areas, and this will enable students to develop their own areas of focus as they progress through the degree. Students who complete this degree can be expected to gain employment in a wide range of sectors, including professional artistic practice, community theatre, education, socially-engaged performance making, political advocacy and campaigning, activism, media and more.

The requirements of a Goldsmiths degree

Undergraduate degrees have a minimum total value of 360 credits. Some programmes may include a year abroad or placement year and this may be reflected in a higher total credit value. Programmes are composed of individual modules, each of which has its own credit value. Full-time students take modules to the value of 120 credits each year and part-time students not less than 45 credits and not more than 90 credits each year. If a programme has a part-time pathway, the structure will be set out in the section "How the programme is structured" above. Each full-time year corresponds to a level of the Framework for Higher Education Qualifications (FHEQ), as follows:

Year 1 = Level 4 Year 2 = Level 5 Year 3 = Level 6

More detailed information about the structure and requirements of a Goldsmiths degree is provided in the Goldsmiths Qualifications and Credit Framework.

Modules

Modules are defined as:

- "Optional" which can be chosen from a group of modules
- "Compulsory" which must be taken as part of the degree
- "Compulsory (Non-compensatable)" Some compulsory modules are central to the achievement of a programme's learning outcomes. These are designated as "Noncompensatable" for that programme and must therefore be passed with a mark of at least 40% in order to pass the module.

Progression

Full-time students are required to have passed modules to a minimum of 90 credits before proceeding to the next year. Part-time students must normally pass new modules to a minimum value of 45 credits before proceeding to the next year.

In addition, some programmes may specify particular modules which must be passed, irrespective of the minimum requirements, before proceeding to the next year.

Award of the degree

In order to graduate with a classified degree, students must successfully complete modules to the minimum value of 360 credits, as set out within the section "The requirements of a Goldsmiths degree" above. A failed module with a mark of 35-39% may be compensated (treated as if it has been passed) so long as the average mean mark for all 120 credits at that level is 45% or above and the module has not been defined as "Non-compensatable". No more than 60 credits may be compensated this way across a programme and no more than 30 credits at any one level.

Classification

Final degree classification will usually be calculated on the basis of a student's best marks for modules equivalent to 90 credits at Level 4, 105 credits at level 5 and 105 credits at level 6, applying a relative weighting of 1:3:5 to modules at level 4, 5 and 6 respectively.

Degrees are awarded with the following classifications:

1st: First Class – 70%+ 2.1: Upper Second – 60-69% 2.2: Lower Second – 50-59% 3rd: Third – 40-49%

Students who, following the application of compensation and having used all their permitted resit attempts, have passed modules to the value of 300-345 credits, at least 60 of which are at level 6 may be awarded a pass degree.

More detail on the calculation of the final classification is on our website.

Interim exit awards

Some programmes incorporate interim exit points of Certificate of Higher Education and/or Diploma of Higher Education, which may be awarded on the successful completion of modules to the value of 120 credits at level 4 or 240 credits (120 of which at level 5) respectively. The awards are made without classification.

When these awards are incorporated within the programme, the relevant learning outcomes and module requirements will be set out within the "What you will be expected to achieve" section above.

The above information is intended as a guide, with more detailed information available in the Goldsmiths Academic Manual.

How teaching quality will be monitored

Goldsmiths employs a number of methods to ensure and enhance the quality of learning and teaching on its programmes.

Programmes and modules are formally approved against national standards and are monitored throughout the year, such as in departmental committees, a variety of student feedback mechanisms and through the completion of module evaluation questionnaires. Every programme has at least one External Examiner who reviews comments annually on the standards of awards and student achievement. External Examiner(s) attend Boards of Examiners meetings and submit an annual written report.

Modules, programmes and/or departments are also subject to annual and periodic review internally, as well as periodic external scrutiny.

Quality assurance processes aim to ensure Goldsmiths' academic provision remains current, that the procedures to maintain the standards of the awards are working effectively and the quality of the learning opportunities and information provided to students and applicants is appropriate.

Detailed information on all these procedures are published on the Quality Office web pages.
